GENERAL TERMS & CONDITIONS

LAST UPDATED JANUARY 26, 2021

The information site francecreative.org aims to promote the cultural and creative industries: their diversity, their economic weight, their professions, the jobs they create and the impact they have on the regions.

You hereby agree to use this website in accordance with the regulations in force, respecting and decency, and to comply with these general conditions of use and the privacy policy.

Please read them and, as they are likely to be updated frequently, review them regularly. If you continue to use the site after any changes have been posted, the terms of use of the website will be those applicable at the time that you access the site.

1. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

All content (text, audio, images, software, logos, etc.) published on the francecreative.org website is protected under French law and international conventions relating to intellectual property rights.

Subject to the provisions of Articles L. 122-5, L. 211-3 and L. 342-3 of the IPC (French Intellectual Property Code), as well as the various terms and conditions of use determined by open source licences, when the contents are identified as falling within the scope of such licenses, any reproduction and/or distribution to the general public, of all or part of this content, is subject to prior authorisation being granted.

Moreover, any partial or total reproduction and/or unauthorised communication to the public of the brands and logos present on this site constitutes an infringement and its perpetrator will be liable to penal sanctions and in particular to the penalties provided for under articles L. 335-2 and L. 343-1 of the CPI.

Any databases that may be used on the site or its associated parts are protected by the same laws as those applicable to the protection of databases. The unauthorised re-use, reproduction or extraction of these databases could lead to legal action being taken against you.

2. PROTECTION OF YOUR PERSONAL DATA

Personal data is information that makes it possible for you to be identified as a natural person, either directly (e.g. your surname, first name etc.), or indirectly by means of a reference number (e.g. your client reference numbers, etc.)

To find out how the francecreative.org website processes your personal data and how to exercise your data protection rights, please consult the Privacy and Cookies Policy page.

In compliance with the regulations in force, we remind you that any personal data made available on the francecreative.org website must not be collected and processed without the prior written consent of the person concerned. In particular, it is absolutely prohibited to collect and use this data, manually or automatically, for the sending of unsolicited marketing email.

3. COOKIES

Please be aware that when you visit the francecreative.org website, one or more cookies may be automatically downloaded onto your device.

For more details on the cookies on the francecreative.org website and what they are used for, please refer to the Privacy and Cookies Policy page.

4. HYPERLINKS

4.1 Hyperlinks to the francecreative.org website

The creation of a hypertext link pointing to the francecreative.org website is the sole responsibility of the person creating the link and can in no way engage the responsibility of the francecreative.org site, which reserves the right to request the removal of these links, especially when the site hosting the link violates copyright or imputes the reputation of the France Creative association.

4.2 Hyperlinks redirecting to other sites from the francecreative.org site

The website contains hypertext links to other sites that are not managed by the France Créative association. As a result, these hypertext links may be modified, updated or deleted at any time by France Créative under its sole responsibility. France Créative cannot be held responsible for any content, advertising, products or services provided by external sites or sources accessed by hypertext link from its website.

5. LIABILITY

The information published on the www.francecreative.fr website comes from reputable sources. However, France Créative cannot guarantee the accuracy or relevance of this information. You are solely responsible for using the information available on this site in a proper manner, applying your own judgement and common sense.

Furthermore, the information or documents that you may be required to transmit via the forms available on the francecreative.org website must not contain content that constitutes a criminal offence, which would be detrimental to public order or morality, intellectual property rights, personality rights, etc.

You must also refrain from sending any unsolicited advertising or promotional material (spamming) or any content infected with computer viruses.

France Créative cannot be held responsible for any damage, direct or indirect, resulting from the use of the site or from the total or partial impossibility to use the site, due in particular to technical maintenance operations or to a technical problem of any nature whatsoever.

6. APPLICABLE LAW AND JURISDICTION

These general terms and conditions and their application are governed by French law.

Disputes relating to the interpretation and execution of these general terms and conditions will be brought before the competent court in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Civil Proceedings.
